

EAST AYRSHIRE WELLBEING SUPPORT DIRECTORY

INTRODUCTION

These are worrying and uncertain times for us all. It's ok to not feel yourself right now and you can find support within these pages to help get you through it.

If you are feeling stressed or anxious, the important thing is to talk to someone and share how you are feeling – whether that's a friend, family member or by reaching out to one of these organisations.

You might find by sharing how you are feeling, you will connect with others who are feeling exactly the same way and can then support each other.

If there are specific things that are making you feel anxious or worried- for example financial difficulties, addictions, food provisions- there is help available within this directory.

Please reach out for help should you need it.

Stay safe in these difficult times and look after yourselves and each other.

MENTAL WELLBEING

Many of us may be feeling anxious or stressed. The following pages will give you some practical examples of how to manage these feelings.

If you are feeling anxious or stressed here are some things you may want to try:

BREATHE

Take a few deeper breaths than normal. A long slow in breath (from your stomach) and a long slow out breath; paying attention to your breathing. Feel a sense of letting go on the out-breath.

GROUND YOURSELF

Feel your feet on the ground- notice any sensations like tingling or heat or cold. Paying attention to your feet takes your attention away from thoughts and difficult emotions.

SMILE

You may not feel like smiling, but doing it will automatically relax tension in your body and may light up someone else's day if they see you.

NOTICE

Take notice of one thing you can be grateful for, right now in this moment e.g. help from others; a comfy bed, the taste of tea or coffee; messages from friends; daffodils etc. Being more mindful can help reduce feelings of anxiety or stress and can help improve self-compassion, the quality of sleep and improve relaxation. Visit Mind.org.uk for further relaxation tips.

5 SENSES TECHNIQUE

If you start to feel anxious or overwhelmed try using the '5 Senses' technique to reduce those feelings:

- Look for 5 things you can see around you
- What are 4 things you can touch?
- Listen for 3 things you can hear
- Concentrate on 2 things you can smell
- And 1 thing you can taste

If you are feeling particularly anxious or feel you may be experiencing a panic attack, use this quick and effective technique until you start to relax:

- Breathe in for 4 seconds
- Hold your breath for 7 seconds
- Exhale for 8 seconds
- Repeat as necessary

MINDFULNESS

Practising Mindfulness every day can help reduce that feeling of anxiety and can improve self-compassion, the quality of sleep and improve relaxation.

To help you become more mindful, here are some useful tips:

- 1 Set aside some time. You don't need any special equipment but you do need to set aside some time and space.
- 2 Observe the present moment as it is. The aim of mindfulness is not attempting to achieve a state of eternal calm. The goal is simple: try to pay attention to the present moment without judgement.
- 3 Let your judgements roll by. When we notice judgements arise, make a mental note of them and let them pass.
- 4 Return to observing the present moment as it is. Our minds often get carried away in thought. That's why mindfulness is the practice of returning again and again, to the present moment.
- 5 Be kind to your wandering mind. Don't judge yourself for whatever thoughts crop up; just practice recognising when your mind wanders and gently bring it back.

While practising mindfulness, it's helpful to remember the following:

- Situations cannot create feelings – only your thoughts about the situation can
- Notice unhelpful thoughts and replace them with helpful thoughts
- Take note of which behaviours make you feel better or worse
- Turn your focus and be present with the task or environment
- Avoidance makes anxiety worse; try and face what is making you feel anxious
- Let go of expectations; enjoy and appreciate

Visit the Mindfulness Scotland website at www.mindfulnessscotland.org.uk for further guidance on how to practice Mindfulness.

LOOK AFTER YOURSELF

It is important to remember to take the time to look after yourself.

- Eat and drink regularly and healthily and get enough sleep
- Keep connected. Speak to friends and family – it's good to talk!
- Be kind to each other and to yourself
- Practice mindfulness, meditation or yoga – even if it's just for 10 minutes a day
- Go for a walk and listen to your favourite music
- Read a book or magazine – take a break from social media

Visit Clear Your Head at www.clearyourhead.scot for more helpful tips on how to manage anxiety

RECOGNISING THE SIGNS

CHILDREN AND YOUNG PEOPLE

Regardless of their age, this may be a difficult time for children and young people. Some may be absolutely fine and cope well with ongoing care and support, whilst others may react immediately, or show signs of difficulty later on. Here are some signs to look out for.

INFANTS TO 2 YEAR OLDS

Infants may become more easily distressed. They may cry more than usual or want to be held and cuddled more.

3 TO 6 YEAR OLDS

Preschool and nursery children may return to behaviours they have outgrown. For example, toileting accidents, bed-wetting, or being frightened about being separated from their parents or carers. They may also have tantrums or difficulty sleeping.

7 TO 10 YEAR OLDS

Older children may feel sad, angry, or afraid. Peers may share false information but parents or carers can correct the misinformation. Older children may focus on details of the situation and want to talk about it all the time, or not want to talk about it at all. They may have trouble concentrating.

PRETEENS AND TEENAGERS

Some preteens and teenagers respond to worrying situations by acting out. This could include reckless driving, and alcohol or drug use. Others may become afraid to leave the home. They may cut back on how much time they connect with their friends. They can feel overwhelmed by their intense emotions and feel unable to talk about them.

Their emotions may lead to increased arguing and even fighting with siblings, parents, carers or other adults.

ADULTS

We all go through difficult times, and it can be a healthy reaction to feel negative emotions when facing challenges in our lives. Life and our responses affects us all differently – there is no single ‘right way’ to react or to feel. But it’s helpful to recognise the signs in ourselves and others and know when we might need some extra support.

- Feeling anxious or worried all the time
 - Feeling drained, exhausted and tired and having problems with sleeping
 - Finding it hard to concentrate or experiencing ‘brain fog’
 - Feeling tearful and wanting to cry all the time
 - Not wanting to talk to anyone and withdrawing from social interaction
 - Increased use of alcohol, drugs or smoking

PERSONAL WELLBEING PLAN

Use this plan as a tool to manage your health and wellbeing needs in a way that works for you. Knowing what helps us stay well, benefits our overall wellbeing and ensures you have practical steps in place to help when times are difficult.

Consider the following ideas on how to improve your wellbeing or build your own Wellbeing Plan using the template.

Practical things I can do to improve my wellbeing?

- Breathing exercises
- Take a break from what you are doing
- Practice mindfulness or meditation
- Get some fresh air
- Phone someone to talk through how you are feeling
- Dance for 3 minutes to your favourite song
- Do something you enjoy
- Eat nutritional, healthy food

What activities can you embed into your daily routine to maintain good wellbeing?

- Walking, running or cycling
- Yoga or Pilates
- Read a book
- Jigsaws
- Crosswords

- Gardening
- Cooking
- Learn something new
- Volunteering

How can I socially connect with people?

- Phone friends or family
- Send a text
- Set up a WhatsApp group
- Meet someone for a walk
- Set up online quiz or catch up with friends and family
- Join an online social connection group

How can I improve my sleep?

- Download a sleep app like Sleepio or Insight Timer
- Stop 'blue screen use' 1 hour before bedtime
- Reduce caffeine or alcohol use 2 hours before bedtime
- Have a relaxing bath
- Practice mindfulness or meditation
- Do some gentle Yoga
- Have a structured bedtime routine
- Limit snacks/food/alcohol late at night

Use the table on the next page to manage your own wellbeing your way.

Everyone's wellbeing is unique and how you improve or maintain good wellbeing will be individual to you.

Your wellbeing will be different each day or each week, so have a variety of tools and techniques that you can put in place when you need them.

And each week try something new to see if that works for you.

Think about your triggers or early warning signs and put a plan in place to manage your wellbeing.
